Of the 18 students enrolled, 15 responded (83%). Feedback from individual classes is always useful to guide improvement efforts. Typically, multiple classes should be used for evaluation, using more classes when they are small (fewer than 10) or when they have low response rates (less than 60%) (see www.theideacenter.org/AdminDecisions).

Summary Evaluation of Teaching Effectiveness

Teaching effectiveness is assessed in two ways: A. Progress on Relevant Objectives, a weighted average of student ratings of the progress they reported on objectives selected as "Important" or "Essential" (double weighted) and B. Overall Ratings, the average student agreement with statements that the teacher and the course were excellent. The SUMMARY EVALUATION is the average of these two measures. Individual institutions may prefer to combine these measures in some other manner to arrive at a summary judgment.

Converted Averages are standardized scores that take into account the fact that the average ratings for items on the IDEA form are not equal; students report more progress on some objectives than on others. Converted scores all have the same average (50) and the same variability (a standard deviation of 10); about 40% of them will be between 45 and 55. Because measures are not perfectly reliable, it is best to regard the "true score" as lying within plus or minus 3 of the reported score.

For comparative purposes, use converted averages. Your converted averages are compared with those from all classes in the IDEA database. If enough classes are available, comparisons are also made with classes in the same broad discipline as this class and/or with all classes that used IDEA at your institution. The Interpretive Guide offers some suggestions for using comparative results; some institutions may prefer to establish their own "standards" based on raw or adjusted scores rather than on comparative standing.

Both unadjusted (raw) and adjusted averages are reported. The latter makes classes more comparable by considering factors that influence student ratings, yet are beyond the instructor's control. Scores are adjusted to take into account student desire to take the course regardless of who taught it (item 39), student work habits (item 43), instructor reported class size, and two multiple item measures (student effort not attributable to the instructor and course difficulty not attributable to the instructor).

Student Ratings of Learning on Relevant (Important and Essential) Objectives

Average unadjusted (raw) and adjusted progress ratings are shown below for those objectives you identified as "Important" or "Essential." Progress on Relevant Objectives (also shown on page 1) is a weighted average of student ratings of the progress they reported on objectives selected as "Important" or "Essential" (double weighted). The percent of students rating each as "1" or "2" (either "no" or "slight" progress) and as "4" or "5" ("substantial" or "exceptional" progress) is also reported. These results should help you identify objectives where improvement efforts might best be focused. Page 3 contains suggestions about the types of changes you might consider to obtain more satisfactory results. Also, refer to the POD-IDEA Center Learning Notes (www.theideacenter.org/podidea/PODNotesLearning.html).

Description of Course and Students

Students described the course by rating three items related to "level of academic challenge." Results cannot be interpreted as "good" or "bad"; in general, these ratings have a slight positive relationship with measures of academic achievement. The three items describing your students relate to their academic motivation and work habits and are key factors in developing adjusted ratings.

| 37. I worked harder on this course than on most courses I have taken. | 3.8 |
| 39. I really wanted to take this course regardless of who taught it. | 3.1 |
| 43. As a rule, I put forth more effort than other students on academic work. | 3.9 |

Improving Teaching Effectiveness

One way to improve teaching effectiveness is to make more use of the teaching methods closely related to learning on specific objectives.

- Review page 2 to identify the objective(s) where improvements are most desirable.
- Use the first column to answer the question, "Which of the 20 teaching methods are most related to learning on these objective(s)?"
- Review the next two columns to answer the question, "How did students rate my use of these important methods?"
- Read the last column to answer the question, "What changes should I consider in my teaching methods?"
- Beyond specific methods, do the results suggest a general area (e.g., Stimulating Student Interest) where improvement efforts should be focused?

Suggested Actions are based on comparisons with ratings for classes of similar size and level of student motivation. Consider increasing use means you employed the method less frequently than those teaching similar classes. Retain current use or consider increasing means you employed the method with typical frequency. Strength to retain means you employed the method more frequently than those teaching similar classes. More detailed suggestions are in the Interpretive Guide \(www.theideacenter.org/diagnosticguide.pdf\), POD-IDEA Center Notes \(www.theideacenter.org/podidea\), and POD-IDEA Center Learning Notes \(www.theideacenter.org/podidea/PODNotesLearning.html\).

You are great.

Shannon is a great teacher and very skilled with the aspects of this class. I feel I've learned more in this class than others.

Great class. Nothing in particular I'd change.

Really appreciate the opportunity to tour Splice Studios. Getting a look into the "real world" size of the industry was awesome. Sometimes during class, jargon gets thrown out without much explanation. That sometimes throws me off. But Shannon shows an [sic] genuine interest in his students and his willingness to go the extra mile with his students is phenomenal.

I really enjoyed how you incorporate the work into real-world situations. The visit to Splice Studios was one of my favorite things so far in my college career, as it was both very educational and fun. You really seem to know what you're doing and I have confidence in the fact that I will learn something from you. Keep up the great work.

Render farm :(totally not your fault. I like the in-class labs, but I wish there was an easier way to take notes while you're doing the labs. They're just a bit fast paced. Super helpful, but I'm kind of a slow writer. Never stop doing them though! Maybe give us a sheet with some of the steps? Just a thought. You're an amazing teacher!

I love Shannon and how he teaches but not taking is hard to do sometimes.

Many people were clicking away at the projects as the same time a lecture was going on. It was very distracting to those that are listening to the lecture.
